

NHS 70 Memories

Comments book left at Alexandra Hospital, Redditch

My brother wouldn't be alive without the NHS. He has type one diabetes and would have died as a child if he could not have insulin. My great grandad would have died as a young man without his regular blood transfusions.

My cousin's baby daughter was born with her insides outside her body and would not have lasted more than a day or so but thanks to the NHS she is a healthy one year old with a bright future.

The NHS means everything to me and my family and I am proud every day to work for it. Jenny McDonough, Speech Therapist

I am very privileged to be a part of the great NHS! Long may you live!

Love Rashida Senior Staff Nurse Theatres!

The NHS isn't brilliant, but it no way should it be run like it is in the US, where if you're poor you can't get treatment: The one thing that I do think is that the NHS should be more integrated in treatments for MS ME/CFS/MCS and Lyme Disease and SIBO.

The big picture is don't vote Tory.

Too many of us not enough resources for demand. I think the NHS does brilliantly considering how it has to manage. Well done. S Brotherton

The NHS is everything. We all need it. For being drunk idiots, for having freak accidents and being diagnosed with nasty diseases. LONG MAY IT CONTINUE. Thank you.

My family think the NHS is FANTASTIC. A

I'm Portuguese and I joined the NHS two years ago and love it. Take care of the system as it is one of the best in the world.

3 generations of family worked/within NHS. Lots of personal and family sacrifices but all for the greater good. Stop underfunding it and don't privatise - it's not for the greater good.

People are always putting down the NHS but in the last three years they have saved my life twice.

Without the NHS my baby would not have survived. That is something you cannot put a price on. Thank you a million times NHS.

I joined the NHS 30 years ago the day it was opened.

Thank you NHS on behalf of my daughter Nicola and my family. Nicola passed away but how wonderful all the staff were the way she was looked after during the five years that she had cancer. Janet from the coffee shop.

Words aren't enough. The NHS has done so much to help me, my husband and my children. My sister in America is envious of our health service. Thank you Christina, Coffee Shop.

Just for my mum. Thanks.
Colin.
